

PAYING TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF POPE

Crowd At St. Matthew's Church.

HONOR MEMORY OF
'THE PEOPLE'S POPE'

Solemn requiem high mass in memory of Pope Pius X was celebrated this morning at St. Matthew's Catholic Church, Rhode Island avenue, near Connecticut avenue northwest. The celebrant was the apostolic delegate, Archbishop Giovanni Bonzano. Members of the Diplomatic Corps, numerous Catholic clergy and an audience that filled the spacious edifice joined in paying tribute to the Pontiff. The sermon, a beautiful tribute to the "Pope of the People," was given by the Rev. Walter Elliott, C. S. P., rector of the Apostolic Mission House, at Brookland. The ceremonies began at 10:30 o'clock and did not conclude until 12:30.

Among the members of official Washington who participated in the services were Ambassador Chinda, of Spain; Ambassador Riano, of Spain; Senor Betancourt, minister from Colombia; Don Menes, minister from Haiti; Joaquin Calvo, former minister from Costa Rica; Madame de Calderon, wife of the first secretary of the Cuban legation, and Nelson O'Shaughnessy, of the State Department staff.

Many Assist In Service.
Assisting Archbishop Bonzano in the celebration of the solemn services were the Rev. C. M. Bart, of St. Terese's, Anacostia, and the Rev. Joseph Cassidy, of St. Stephen's, subsection. The Rev. P. C. Gavan, of Sacred Heart, and the Rev. M. J. Riordan, of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, served as deacons of honor to the celebrant, and vesting officers of the rite. The Rev. George Donaghy, vice rector of the Catholic University, was the assistant priest in singing the mass, and the Rev. John Cooper, assistant at St. Matthew's served as master of ceremonies. The four assisting priests were Messrs. Thomas F. Lee, James Mackin, W. T. Russell, and John Fenlon, S. S.

Entering the church from the east entrance, the apostolic delegate led the procession of nearly fifty priests who found accommodation within the sanctuary. The throne of the pontiff was positioned at the west side of the main altar, and before it the vesting priests withdrew the bishop's robes of the celebrant and invested the clergyman in the black vestment of the mass for the dead. During the celebration of the mass, the Gregorian choir of St. Matthew's, under the direction of Malcom Brown, sang the Gregorian hymns for the dead.

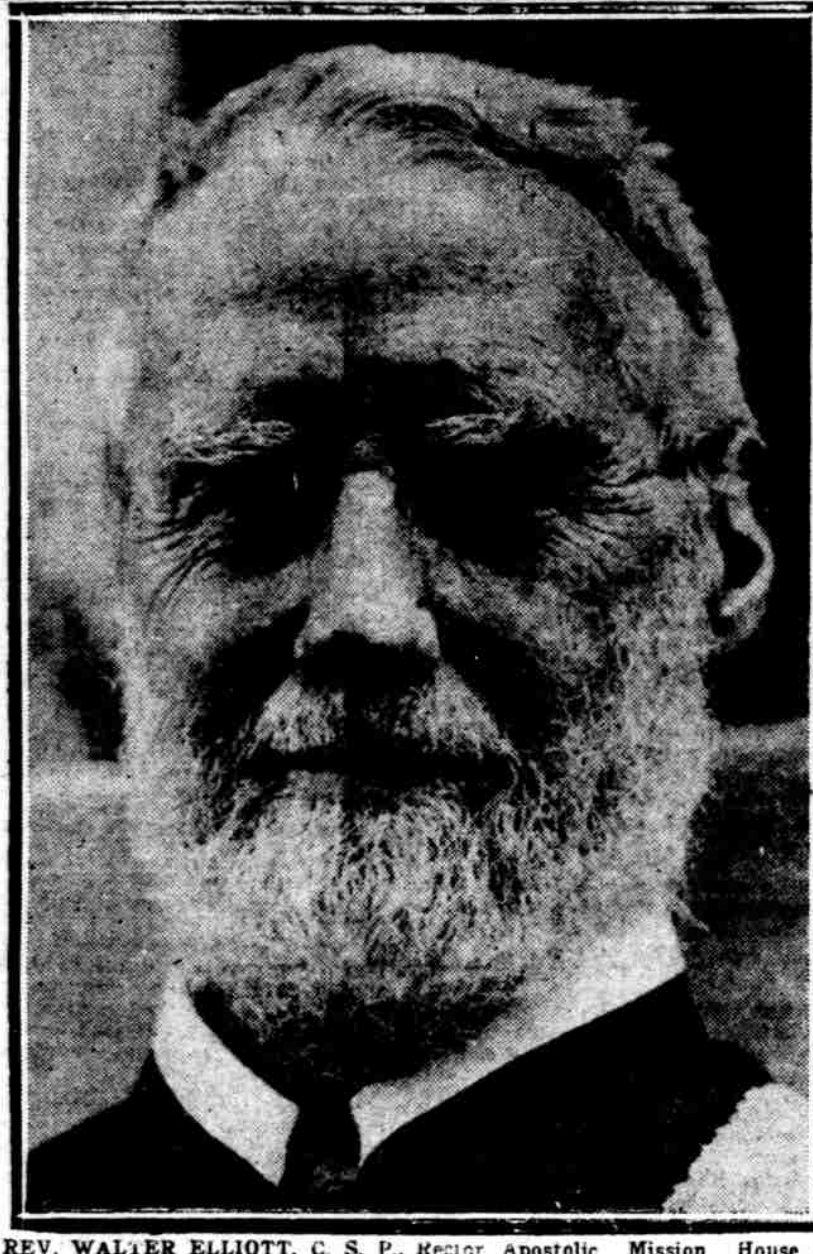

Special Prayers Said.
Differing from usual masses for the dead, this morning's service contained three special prayers, the first known to the public, being participated in by the priests within the chancel rail. The second special prayer was the first uttered in an undertone, and the third and last, was known as the Pope's communion. In this the name and title of the Holy Father were mentioned.

Eulogy To Pius X.
Describing the dead Pontiff as the simplest of men, the Rev. Dr. Elliott gave a beautiful eulogy. He said the duty to be performed was submission to the Divine will in calling Pope Pius X. The second duty, he said, was to dispatch sympathy to the close relatives of the dead sovereign Pontiff. Referring to the character of man the Holy Father was, Father Elliott said he was in every way a Pope worthy of the office; a man possessed of all the attributes needed to make him efficient as the head of the Catholic Church.

He was the elder brother of every Catholic, said Father Elliott. "He has been with us when we have celebrated the young; he has accompanied us in the call to the altar; he has been saying our offices, and he has prepared us for the holy sacrifice of the mass. He was the Pope of the people, the Pope of the people, the Pope of the people."

May Claim Right To Pass on Pope
ROME, Aug. 24.—Despite strict regulations against the exercise of the "Spanish veto," Germany and Austria are said to have already let it be known that the election of Cardinal Ferrata as successor to His Holiness Pope Pius X. would be objectionable to these two nations.

No cardinal may introduce the veto in the conclave upon pain of excommunication, but in view of the European war and the generally tangled political condition, there is much speculation as to whether nations affected may not seek to exercise it in some other way.

There is a strong movement afoot among the members of the Sacred College to appeal to the warring powers to declare an armistice during the conclave at which the new Pope will be elected.

Prepare Quarters for Cardinals at Vatican
ROME, Aug. 24.—While the cardinals of the Sacred College now in Rome today held the third mass for His Holiness, the late Pope Pius X, hundreds of carpenters, bricklayers, and electricians were preparing the Vatican for the conclave at which a successor to the dead Pontiff will be selected.

The mass today was celebrated with increasing pomp and solemnity and will continue until August 30.

A telegram was received from Cardinal Farley today stating that he expected to reach Rome tonight. In that event he will be the first foreign cardinal to arrive for the conclave.

Preparing the Vatican for the conclave is a stupendous task and the work will be rushed, so that the quarters for the new pope is in progress, may be ready by August 31. The court of St. Damasus first will be walled off and separate cells, where the cardinals will be segregated during the conclave will be constructed. Hundreds of other workmen in the Sixtine Chapel, where the actual balloting is conducted, are erecting the sixty-five thrones which the cardinals will occupy when the vote is being taken. These thrones are being placed around the walls, and over each will be baldachin. Upon the election of the new pope all of the baldachins over the thrones, save that occupied by the cardinal who has been chosen, will fall to the floor.

The section of the Vatican which is isolated for the conclave includes the Pauline and Sixtine chapels, the ground floor and next three floors of the Vatican buildings around the Court of St. Damasus and numerous other apartments and rooms. Accommodations must be provided for about 300 persons, as each cardinal has a suite of three or four rooms for himself, a priest and domestic, who enter the conclave with him. Cooks, two physicians, servants, and other employees are also walled up with the cardinals. All are pledged to secrecy.

LONDON LEARNS OF ITS ARMY'S LOCATION

LONDON, Aug. 24.—The exact location of the British over-seas expedition was revealed by the war office today which admitted that these troops have been in battle since Sunday. The announcement said:

"The British expeditionary forces have been engaged with the enemy in the neighborhood of Mons, Belgium, since early on Sunday. The British lines are holding."

No statement of casualties was given.

Special Requiem Masses
Will Be Held for Pope

Lamenting the death of Pope Pius X, the Catholic churches throughout the city are preparing to hold special services.

A requiem mass for the Italian Catholics of Washington will be celebrated by the Rev. Father N. De Carlo at the Holy Rosary Chapel, Third and I streets northwest, tomorrow. Under the direction of the Rev. F. Zumbush, the boys' choir of St. Margaret's Church will chant appropriate hymns.

Requiem mass was celebrated at the shrine of the Sacred Heart this morning at 9 o'clock. The Rev. Father Gavan was the celebrant. Special services will be celebrated at the Franciscan Monastery, Brookland, Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, and at St. Augustine's Church tomorrow at 7 o'clock.

What War Moves Mean

By J. W. T. MASON.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—An audacious German attempt to squeeze the allies out of Belgium and throw them against a German force lined along the Belgium border in France is undoubtedly the meaning of the triple struggle now proceeding from Luxembourg almost to the western coast line.

The most important part of the German strategy is to drive her forces through southern Belgium into France. If this effort succeeds, the Germans will be able to concentrate in gaps between the French frontier strongholds at Lille, Valenciennes, and Maubeuge. Once in these positions, the German double movement pivoting on Brussels and acting like a great vice gradually narrowing, will attempt to push the allies backward. If the plan succeeds the allies will have to take refuge at Lille, Valenciennes, and Maubeuge, divided and surrounded, or they must fight between the Vistula and the German forces on the French side of the frontier.

Until the Germans break through south Belgium, the rest of the movement must wait. This explains the concentration of the present fighting from Mons to Luxembourg. The importance of the battle going on along this line is indicated by the presence of the British troops. If the Germans are checked here the rest of their plan can end only in a doubtful victory at best, for the way of the allies' retirement out of Belgium will be unbroken.

A stupendous victory is the stake for which Germany now is playing, and against it she is risking, in south Belgium, the danger of a check that will send her forces a broken mass back into the Ardennes and Luxembourg.

Russia is beginning an important driving movement in east Prussia which seems, at present to have for its object the bottling of a considerable part of Germany's eastern field forces in the military centers of Koenigsburg, Allenstein, Thorn, and Graudenz.

Russian progress ought to be rapid, for even with only a part of the Czar's army ready for invasion, Germany's active field forces in the east is numerically far inferior to it.

The Russian advance is following roughly a parallel to the Vistula river, but from thirty to sixty miles north of that stream, so as to permit the Czar's army to move through German territory.

About seventy-five miles west of Russia's advance, the Vistula enters Germany and turns its course northward. Once the Russians try to pass the heavily guarded barrier, the seriousness of the Slav threat against Berlin can be better judged.

Denies Garros Martyr.
THE HAGUE, Aug. 24.—A friend of Roland Garros, in a Dutch paper, says he has learned definitely that the noted aviator is alive and well. This discounts the story of Garros' sacrificing his life by driving his aeroplane into a Zeppelin and wrecking it.

Don't Worry About War Prices

Newspaper talk about war prices on food products is very much overdrawn. It is true that sugar, flour, and some meats are higher than they were a few weeks ago. On the other hand it is equally true that poultry, fruit of all kinds, and some vegetables are lower than they were at that time, while prices on the general grocery line have changed but slightly.

Trade conditions were badly upset the first few days of the war, and depressions and advances in prices were radical. Now business conditions are daily improving and the tendency of prices excepting on import articles is to get back to normal.
